Subject: signatures on credit card forms

Dear Sir or Madam,

The new regulations could be interpreted to mean that credit card forms can no longer be scanned or faxed. This would be very unfortunate. I have some clients execute a credit card form the day an action is due, scan it in, and e-mail it to me -- or fax it to you. If we cannot do that, we might be forced to take extensions. I do not advance fees for clients.

Yours,

Anne Barschall
