

Untitled

From: Patrick Lee [e-mail address redacted]
Sent: Saturday, January 28, 2012 10:08 PM
To: SatelliteOffices
Subject: Letter of support for USPTO office in Boise

To whom it may concern:

Please consider Boise as a possible location for a USPTO satellite office. Boise is a particularly attractive location due to its unique combination of a high level of innovation activity and a skilled technical workforce, coupled with a high quality of life and a reasonable cost of living.

Boise, Idaho would be an ideal location for a USPTO satellite office for the following reasons:

- Boise's proven ability to recruit and retain science and technology professionals
- Boise's central location in the northwest region relative to other cities of high innovation activity, such as San Jose, San Francisco, Portland, Seattle, Denver, Boulder, and Salt Lake City
- Boise's high level of innovation activity, measured by patent filings and grants (http://www.uspto.gov/web/offices/ac/ido/oeip/taf/cls_cbsa/allcbsa_gd.htm)
- Boise's high quality of life, measured by cost of living factors and high employee retention rates

Idaho has a strong culture of innovation and entrepreneurialism. Constructing a USPTO satellite office in Idaho would energize a vibrant community of talented innovators.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

Best,
Patrick